District Delivery Model

Use the District Delivery Model to determine the way in which instruction is delivered in the district. This model should be determined at the start of the school year and every time the model changes within the school year. A record is saved for each delivery model created. This information is mostly reported from only the district level. However, if schools/buildings in a district are following different delivery models, and building that differs from the reported district model should also be reported with an additional record. If delivery models differ within the same building, report the mode used by the majority of students in that building.
