3. Select the Expanded Learning Opportunities Type from the dropdown list.
4. Enter the remaining fields as needed for this student.

Overlapping records are allowed, meaning an End Date is not required on one record in order to add another record.

Automatic Process for Updating Attendance Hours for ELO Students

When using courses to track participation hours for ELO students, a stored procedure automatically runs on the database every morning. This procedure updates the ELOP Days. This requires Courses to be held in a non-instructional period and have the correct Type assigned.

What Updates are Made

The stored procedure sums all days (whole values only) a student attends ELO courses for all instructional days (school days) in a calendar year (up to the date the procedure runs). A student is counted when they are marked present in the course.

A student can only earn 1 day of credit per calendar day. If a student attends a before-school course and an after-school course on the same day, one 1 day is earned.

- When the student has an active ELO record (or, when there are multiple ELO records active on the current date, the most recent record), the stored procedure UPDATES the ELOP Days value.
- When the student DOES NOT have an active ELO record, the stored procedure CREATES a new record with the current start date, a Program Type of 194: ELP - Expanded Learning programs, and ELOP Days with the calculated value.
- When the student has more than one active record with a Program Type of 194, the stored procedure DOES NOT CREATE a record for them.

If the student has a Section Student Detail record with the ELO Days Earned field populated, that is the maximum number of days the student can earn through ELO courses.
