Graduation rates represent the percentage of students who graduated from high school with a regular diploma. These rates are calculated as prescribed by the National Center for Education Statistics (NCES), which provides data to the federal reporting system. The Bureau of Indian Education uses the 4-year adjusted cohort graduation rate, defined as the number of first-time 9th graders who graduate with a regular high school diploma within 4 years, in accordance with NCES requirements.

Graduation rates do not include students who earn alternative diplomas or certificates.
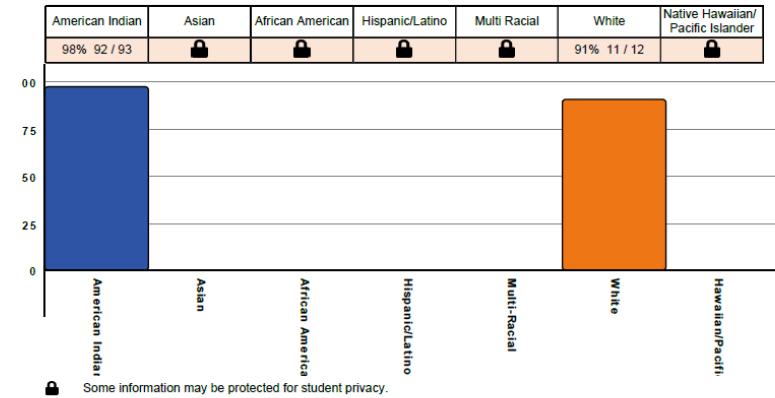

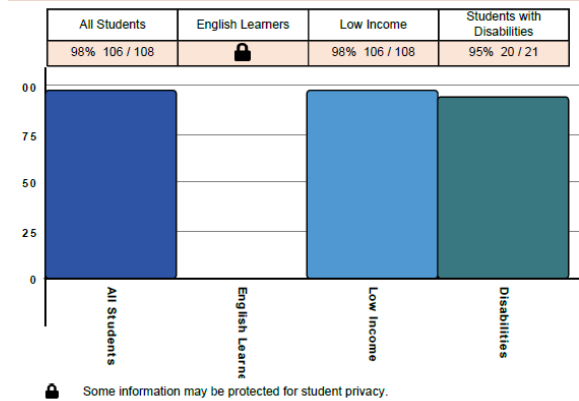

Graduation Rates

98.1%
The four-year graduation rate represents students who received a regular diploma in four years or less, from the time in which they entered ninth grade.
