A bug was preventing pivots from properly filtering by term. This issue was corrected.

Consecutive Absence Report - Performance Optimization, Logic Update (SIS-156107)

The query used to return attendance data for the Consecutive Absence Report has been optimized for performance.

This optimization also includes a change to what is considered a consecutive absence.

- Previous to this change, a student could be present at the beginning of period 1, then check out for the rest of the day. Logic required an attendance mark in each of the periods to be considered a consecutive absence.
- With this update, logic compares the number of absent minutes with the number of instructional minutes in the day. Meaning, the student needs to be absence for EVERY minute of the day for the entered number of consecutive day in order to be considered consecutively absent.

Article(s): Consecutive Absence Report

Path: Attendance > Reports > Consecutive Absence Report

Calendar

Calendar Period Schedule - Number Symbol in Name (SIS-154808)

The number symbol (#) is no longer allowed as part of a period schedule name.

Release Scores and Progress Monitor Improvements (SIS-147714) [Enhancement]

A new option has been added to Assignments that allows teachers to schedule when scores are released to students and parents. This option allows teachers to score assignments over time and make all of the scores available at the same time, such as with a test or essay that may take longer to score. Score release settings are established on individual assignments in the Release Scores section of the Section Setting area. The default setting is to release scores on Save, making them available to students and parents immediately. Otherwise, teachers can select a date and time at which scores will be released. Release dates can be managed anywhere teachers can view assignment details. In tools such as the Grade Book or Progress Monitor, the view can be filtered to calculate In-Progress grades based on all scored assignments or only those whose scores have been released.

In addition to Release Scores, significant improvements have been made to the Progress Monitor, which now displays assignments aligned to Grading Tasks as well as Standards. Other updates include:

- Added eye icon that hides all other students for easy conference view.
- Upgraded student search to allow teachers to page through individual students in the search results.
- Moved the Unscored, Missing, and Submissions filters to a unified filter menu where teachers can create their own custom filters as well.
- Added access to the Multi-Post tool to post grades right from the Progress Monitor.
- Added a Score button which opens a Grade Book side panel to simplify scoring multiple assignments.
