Authorizer

The Authorizer approves the Business Representative to act on behalf of the organization regarding their Stripe account. Business representatives must be authorized to open financial accounts on behalf of your entity. Examples include financial officers, contracting officers, and directors. If your authority has been delegated to you by someone else, you can identify an authorizer to confirm your authority. You can add multiple authorizers, but only one authorization is required. Authorizers must have the authority to open financial accounts on your organization's behalf.

Users must select the "Request authorization" button in the center of the screen to proceed with onboarding.

Once selected, the email address of the authorizer must be entered. An email preview will be shown and once Send is selected, an email will be sent from "notifications@stripe.com" to the authorizer.

The authorizer will then receive an email where they will select a button to submit authorization.

When the user selects the button they will be brought to a webpage where they will enter their legal name and title.

The new account that is entered during onboarding will create a duplicate record if a current bank account is being used as the default, and it cannot have the same name as any Bank Account ID on file. We recommend naming the new account Stripe Primary District Account or Primary District Account. Do not tie fund accounts to this account unless it is a new account, as fund account attachments do not change with migration. Inactivating an existing bank account ID with outstanding payments will render those payments unable to be deposited.
